

The Center for Migration Studies (CMS) in cooperation with the International Organization for Migration (IOM) are pleased to convene the:

Conference on International Migration and Development: Continuing the Dialogue Legal and Policy Perspectives

Thursday, January 17 – Friday, January 18, 2008
Millennium UN Plaza Hotel, New York City, NY

Following major intergovernmental events on migration and development, this conference will provide a unique and timely opportunity for experts, researchers, policy makers and program officials to critically review the outcomes, implications, and achievements of these events. In addition, it will provide a candid appraisal of where the debate on international migration and development is headed. The broad diversity of participants with different perspectives and interests will provide valuable interactions, offering insights into policy and legal implications and appropriate policy measures.
